To Whom It May Concern:

Brighton Area Schools engaged the services of Tenurgy during the 2010-11 school year to audit the district's utility consumption. Tenurgy was not able to find any significant savings in the way the district was currently operating; however, the district gained tremendous piece of mind by going through the audit process to discover this fact.

The audit process was not time consuming for the finance department. It was also not intrusive to the operations of the accounts payable office. Most of the information was secured by Tenurgy itself. There were no set-up fees and no hourly rates. Tenurgy operated at truly no risk to the district and provided a seamless utility audit.

Any district seeking the services of a thorough energy audit without any risk to the district would do well to consider Tenurgy for these services. If you should require any additional information, please feel free to contact me.
